

Kyle Yontz

Kyle Yontz is the Director of Financial Analysis for GROWMARK, where he leads corporate budgeting, patronage, stock records, and capital expenditure review processes. Since joining the cooperative in 2008, Kyle has held roles across accounting, human resources, agronomy, and treasury—giving him a broad understanding of the organization’s operations and financial health. A lifelong learner, he earned his bachelor’s degree in Finance from Millikin University and an MBA from Illinois State University. Kyle is known for his analytical mindset and collaborative leadership style, providing insight and direction that support GROWMARK’s mission to feed and fuel communities across North America. He serves on the board of the IAA Credit Union and enjoys coaching youth soccer and staying active in his children’s activities. Kyle and his wife, Stephanie, live in Bloomington, Illinois, with their three children—Victoria, Dylan, and Bennett.
