

Collin Ryan

Collin Ryan is the Commercial Sales Manager for Ag Growth International, based in Dixon, Illinois. In this role, he partners with grain, feed, and processing companies to provide customized grain storage and handling solutions essential to the global food supply chain. Collin's career reflects a passion for agricultural systems, customer service, and the technology that keeps the industry moving efficiently. He finds fulfillment in supporting the operational backbone of agriculture and seeing firsthand where food and feed production begin. Collin is known for his practical leadership and strong technical insight, helping clients maintain reliability and productivity. When he's not working, Collin enjoys spending time outdoors with his wife and young daughter, golfing, hunting, and fishing. His professional mission mirrors his personal one—strengthening the connections that keep agriculture thriving from field to facility.
